Finding help before and after baby arrives

For new parents
and their families

This publication provides a list of general and mental health resources for individuals and families during pregnancy and after the birth of a baby.

For free* telephone support, contact the Pregnancy Birth and Baby Helpline on 1800 882 436. This service is available 7 days a week, 7am to midnight (AEST). It provides high quality information and can redirect you to other services if appropriate.

* Calls from landlines are free.
Mobile charges may apply.

For all emergencies, please call 000.

Phone numbers and websites contained in this resource were correct at the time of production (February 2021).

This resource has been consumer reviewed.

Good sources of information and help include:

- Healthdirect Australia – for 24 hour telephone health advice staffed by registered nurses, call 1800 022 222 healthdirect.gov.au
- General practitioners – find your local GP by calling Healthdirect Australia on 1800 022 222.
Also find after hours GP's and after hours Locum Services.

- Child health nurses

Metropolitan area – find your local child and community health centre via the central booking system on 1300 749 869.

Rural areas – go to wacountry.health.wa.gov.au and find your community child health nurse by clicking on your region.

- National Relay Service (NRS) – provides assistance to deaf, hearing and speech impaired persons requiring assistance receiving and making calls 1800 555 677.

- Interpreter Service – 13 14 50
